10-year tax plan on first reading

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

An ordinance establishing a tax of one-half of 1 percent on the consumption of natural gas and electric power in Granite City was placed on first reading by the City Council Tuesday night.

The bill, if finally approved, will establish the tax for a period of 10 years, at which time the levy would expire automatically.

The revenue from the tax is to be used to retire a $1.3 million general obligation bond issue that will be sold to provide the balance of funding necessary to construct the proposed downtown overpass spanning the railroad tracks between the downtown area and West Granite City at 19th Street.

The controversial measure, which had brought objections from business and industry, was placed on first reading on a motion by Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk as chairman of the ordinance committee following reading of the four and one-half page document.

The bill, requiring a minimum of eight votes for first reading adoption, received nine "yes" votes.

Alderman Paul R. Bowler of the Seventh Ward, the only alderman who had spoken out against the tax in earlier council discussions, was out of the council chambers when the vote was taken. Four other aldermen—Earl Baker, Glen Sprinkle, Lloyd Bailey and Charles Douglas—were absent.

Voting in favor of the tax were Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Roy Poulos, Everett Morlen, Paul Fisk, Mac Warfield, Michael Modrusic, Margaret Nonn, Warren Decatur and Fred Schuman Jr.

Copies of the ordinance were distributed to the aldermen a week ago by Mayor Paul Schulz who favored the special tax as a means of raising the financing still needed to build the downtown overpass at a total cost now estimated at $5.2 million.

While the city had obtained commitments for $3.9 million of the cost

Investigation into the status of a three-year-old plan to build a 180-bed nursing home in the 2900 block of Mockingbird Lane, which was to have been turned over to the city after its cost was amortized—was ordered by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

The action was taken after Alderman Paul R. Bowler of the Seventh Ward told the council that he had learned that the land on which the nursing home was to have been built is to be offered for sale at public auction.

Council members referred the matter to City Attorney Lance Callis for a preliminary investigation of what financing steps were taken by the developers and how deeply the city may be involved in the project.

They said the auction may indicate abandonment of the project, for which the city approved a series of actions to clear the way for the proposed construction.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward suggested, "We may want to call in the state for advice if our investigation shows that we should go still further in this matter."

Bowler, in urging that the status of the plan be studied, told the aldermen: "I have been told that the land on which the nursing home was to have been built is to be sold at public auction. The sale was supposed to have been held today, but it was postponed."

"What concerns me is a report that under the law some of the same people involved in the project could come in and bid on the land and buy it back. I don't think that is fair."

Salary, expense cuts in Venice

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The Venice City Council on Tuesday evening passed a resolution reducing some salaries and expense allowances beginning Aug. 1 under the new 1979-80 budget.

Byron asked about schools

After filing a lawsuit against Southern Illinois University about its executive sessions, Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas Byron is being asked to review closed discussions of the Granite City Board of Education.

David Partney, who was elected to the school board this spring, said Tuesday he is "calling for a complete legal opinion from State's Attorney Byron on items that may be discussed in executive sessions of the Granite City School Board."

State law provides for behind-closed-doors board conversations on such matters as possible land acquisition and details of background information on persons being considered for hiring or firing. Formal purchase and personnel decisions are made only at public portions of meetings.

Partney contends that a wider range of subjects sometimes is taken up in executive sessions, apparently to gain a consensus on sensitive topics.

When straw votes are taken privately on hiring and promoting school employees, board members often vote unanimously or near unanimously later, even though their own choices may not have attracted majority support, Partney adds.

For more than a dozen years, the board has barred the public from its sessions dealing with confidential information, and has invited represen-

Anticipated city income during the fiscal year is expected to be drastically reduced as compared to previous years. Due to a reduction of reserve funds available, it is necessary that expenditures from the city's treasury be reduced. It was commented by Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols.

The entire council concurred in the monthly reductions, which are as follows:

Mayor's expenses from $500 to $375, clerk $200 to $150, treasurer $200 to $150, aldermen $200 to $150, and chief of police expense from $100 to $50.

Monthly salary cuts were: humane officer $305 to $275, civil defense coordinator $270 to $150, health and building inspector $270 to $150, and police commissioners from $85 to $50 per month.

The city council approved a building permit request from the Terminal Railroad Association for construction of a $36,000 frame and steel pole building.

A $3,000 building permit for remodeling of 122 Granville St. was approved for Richard Wayne Czerniak, 2239 Delmar Ave.

A letter from Mrs. Eleanor Weber, secretary of the Venice Senior Citizens, was read asking for $140 to pay St. Mark Church for use of the building by senior citizens during the time a youth recreation program is in progress at the Venice Recreation Center.

The cost is for the period of June 19 through July 31, at $20 for each Tuesday used.

The request was approved and payment ordered.

A request for a bus by the Silver Bells Senior Citizens to attend a baseball game in St. Louis on July 5 was approved.

2nd fire at clubhouse

The second fire in two days at the Mexican Honory Commission clubhouse, 1800 Spruce St., broke out at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday, resulting in damage to several tables and chairs and some costumes. Arson is suspected.

The first fire Sunday caused an estimated $4,000 damage. An open window near where the fire started in the garage led to arson being suspected in that blaze.

Arson also is suspected in Tuesday morning's fire because the electricity had been disconnected since Sunday's fire and no obvious cause could be identified. Fred Powers, who resided in an apartment in the building, told police there was a threatening note on the doorstep Monday morning. He said he and his wife had a disagreement with a young couple from a motorcycle gang recently and he noticed them near the building after the first fire.

Firemen were on the scene Tuesday until 3:15 a.m.

Repair need prompts rise in Venice city library tax

The Venice Council Tuesday evening passed a resolution authorizing an additional library tax of .02 cent on $100 assessed valuation for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

The tax was .15 per $100 assessed valuation. The purpose of the additional money is for maintenance repairs and alterations of the library building.

It was noted that the air conditioning units need replacement or extensive repair, in addition to repairs required on the structure of the building.

The operating budget of the library for the year 1979-80 has been reduced by $12,500.

The resolution authorizing the increase will become effective 30 days after publication.

If a petition signed by 10 percent or more of the electors in the last city election is presented to the city officials asking that the question of levying such a tax be presented to the voters, then the tax will be presented in a special election.

The entire city council voted for the increase in the library tax due to the need for repairs and the general lack of city funds.

Checker game of judgeships?

The possibility of several judgeship openings developing in the near future has been the topic of considerable discussion among local attorneys and judges, the Press-Record has learned.

Sources indicate that at least one appellate judgeship, and possibly two, and up to three circuit judgeships will open in the next few months. Competition for the posts is believed to be intense among Madison and St. Clair County attorneys.

Appellate Judge George Moran Sr. of Granite City has indicated he may soon retire from the Mount Vernon bench and several circuit judges are said to be interested in the appointment.

In addition, Circuit Judge William Beatty has been nominated for a federal judgeship by U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson and needs only final confirmation to be appointed.

Sources indicate St. Clair County Attorney Bruce Cook is taking an active role in urging alliances of well-known attorneys in Madison and St. Clair counties to identify judge candidates.

At least two circuit judges in the Third Judicial Circuit of Madison and Bond counties have expressed interest in election to the Appellate Court, persons familiar with local politics have indicated.

Crackdown on park violence

Granite City police are investigating reports that a gang of about 10 youths has been drinking in Worthen Park and has been responsible for at least one beating.

Mark Goss, 18, of Clark Avenue, was seriously injured in a beating the night of June 30 in the park. He said he and a friend were in the park when a group of youths, ages 15 to 18, approached, threatened Goss and his friend and then struck Goss on the head with a beer bottle.

While he was on the ground, about seven of the youths kicked and stomped on him and then picked him up and threw him face first into a cyclone fence.

Goss' parents told police that their son nearly lost an eye and had to be admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for several days.

Man tries to lure children into his car

A middle-aged to elderly man in an old red Pontiac was observed Monday afternoon attempting to lure young children into his car at three locations.

Charles Wofford of the 2200 block of Bryan Ave., reported the man asked his children, ages 7 to 12, if they wanted a ride at 19th Street and Missouri Avenue and when they refused, he drove away.

A friend of Wofford, Jon Odien, Union, Mo., followed the car and alleged the man offered some young children some money if they would get in his car on Washington Avenue at Edwards Street and the children refused.

The red Pontiac then drove on Edwards Street to Bromley Avenue, where the driver was pulling a young girl into his car when Odien drove behind the car and sounded his vehicle's horn. The driver of the red car then released the girl and drove away.

A license number taken from the vehicle was traced to a Greenville, Ill., man and police are attempting to locate for questioning.

Signs of the times

New and old signs tell the story of gasoline in the Quad-City area. At upper left is an obviously out-dated sign at the now-closed Moto service station at E. 23rd Street and Nameoki Road. The 30.9 cents-per-gallon for regular gas on the sign and the boarded up station in the background speak for themselves. At left is a closeup of the meter on the middle pump in the photo at upper right. Note the 29.9 cents-per-gallon near the bottom. The three pumps are in an old service station at 21st Street and Grand Avenue which has long been out of the gas business. At right, Bob Rogers, owner and operator of Just Bob's barber shop, 1213 Madison Ave., has an unusual sign for a barber shop window. "No Gas." He said that everyone else (the service stations) is putting the sign up so why not in his shop. Obviously his sign doesn't lie.

Protein need will boost dairy farms

The dairy industry in Illinois is a bit of a paradox. Illinois is the nation's number one producer of Swiss cheese, but the state doesn't produce enough milk to quench its own thirst. And production has been declining.

The nearly 3,100 dairy farms in Illinois produce more than 2.5 billion pounds of milk yearly, but large amounts of it are imported, notably from Wisconsin.

In Southern Illinois, an area otherwise known for its livestock production, nearly half of the milk consumed is imported, says Howard Olson, a dairy specialist at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. He is a professor of animal industry in the SIUC School of Agriculture.

Olson says these statistics may change someday. "We have the land and the opportunity in Southern Illinois to greatly increase the dairy industry for the whole state. And there is a market for the milk. Illinois has inexpensive feed grains and Southern Illinois has the capability of producing the forages and roughages necessary to support a highly productive dairy industry."

Nearly half of the dairy farms in the state now are in a narrow tier of counties along the northern border. The contour of the land over most of that area is similar to the hilly land of Southern Illinois.

It is this northern segment of the Illinois dairy industry that produces Swiss cheese. A cheese factory in Jo Daviess County has fared well in recent years as consumption of cheese products has risen.

Milk marketed from these counties is sold in what is known as the Chicago milkshed. Another milkshed in Illinois occurs in the St. Louis area, where the dairy industry also is relatively well developed and expanding.

Illinois dairy farmers do not rank among the best in the nation. The state's average production figures, in fact, fall below average. The state, in terms of total production, ranks 11th.

But Olson says that may change someday, too. Dairy cooperatives are stepping up their promotions of dairying among farmers, with an eye toward increasing production in Southern Illinois.

And the needs of a protein-hungry world may help push things along. Olson says dairy cows are among the most efficient producers of protein.

Milk is a high-quality protein, and when the cow no longer produces efficiently she can be sold for low-fat hamburger.

In terms of milk production alone, dairy cows are more than four times as efficient as beef cattle in the production of protein, according to British studies. Dairy cows are more than twice as efficient as pigs.

"And dairy cows can use a high percentage of roughage in the diet and maintain production," Olson says. "Low cost roughages that are inedible to humans can be used extensively in dairy production."

"Beef cattle and sheep use these roughages too, but they often, particularly beef, are 'finished' with large amounts of grain, beyond what is fed to dairy cows. "As world demand for protein increases and as energy problems require increased efficiency in our production, it could open up new opportunities for the dairy industry."

Utility tax

through Federal Aid to Urban Systems and Community Development block grants, recent efforts to raise the balance were balked. An application for an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) was rejected by the Housing and Urban Development Agency on grounds that Granite City showed too little interest in the development of additional public housing.

Mayor Schuler said of the HUD rejection that there were no other federal fund sources to which the city could appeal. He appointed a five-member ad hoc committee to study possible financing methods.

The committee, of which the mayor served as chairman, recommended the utility consumption tax as a means of raising the remainder of the overpass financing.

When the plan first was announced, Mayor Schuler said the committee estimated that a 1 percent tax would raise approximately $300,000 per year, an amount sufficient to meet payments on a $1.3 million bond issue. He noted that these figures were estimates because actual revenue figures of the Illinois Power Co., the utility most affected by the proposal, were not immediately available.

In subsequent discussions, and later a public hearing, industrial leaders objected to the tax in principle as well as to the amount of money a 1 percent tax would produce.

At the public hearing, Leo Konzen, an attorney representing Granite City Steel, American Steel Foundries, A.O. Smith Corp. and Nestle, Inc., said the tax would cost Granite City Steel alone about $200,000 a year. The industries protested the tax on grounds that such additional burdens eventually could lead to some industries leaving the area, or prevent others from moving in.

In the absence of Mayor Schuler at Tuesday night's meeting, City Attorney Lance Callis, who prepared the tax ordinance, told the aldermen that the figures had been made available by Illinois Power and that he had talked with representatives of the Mississippi River Fuel Transportation Corp. of St. Louis, an industrial fuel supplier.

As a result, Callis said, "A tax of one-half of 1 percent should bring the city about $250,000. Figures show that the bond payment and interest should run from $215,000 to $225,000 a year, so we should just about break even."

Alderman Roy Poulos raised the question of expiration of the tax at the end of 10 years, noting that the section of the ordinance providing the 10-year tax period implied the tax could be renewed.

Callis explained the clause, noting that it provides for the ordinance to become null and void at the end of 10 years unless renewed by the city administration that is in authority at that time.

He said it was necessary to include that wording because the present City Council does not have the authority to control the actions of a future council. Alderman Sam Whittier of the Second Ward, who served as mayor pro tem, told the aldermen the tax presents an opportunity to accomplish a project that has been sorely needed for many years.

The ordinance provides a $100 monthly exemption for all utility users affected by the tax. City officials believe this will eliminate payment of the tax by most householders, or result in very minor billing.

In response to a question, Callis said that under state law the utilities may charge up to three-tenths of 1 percent for collection, but a charge under the new ordinance has not yet been announced.

The fee is expected to be less than three-tenths. But it will be more expensive to collect than would be the case if the tax was uniformly applied instead of having a $100 dividing line between those paying the tax and those exempted.

Nursing home

"I don't know where we stand in this. The city approved a bond program for this project. If any of those bonds were sold and are drawing interest, I'm sure none of us know anything about it."

Several aldermen said they did not believe bonds ever were sold under the original program that provided for private financing.

"But we don't know what has happened, and I think it is time we found out," Bowler said.

Callis told the council members that in any case there was no liability on the part of the city in connection with the financing of the nursing home development program.

Bowler noted that his concern over the status of the financing program stems from the fact that on one occasion a representative of a bonding firm appeared before the council and said the construction plan must be approved immediately as buyers for the proposed bonds were available.

The plan for construction of the nursing home was presented to the City Council in late 1975 by Jerry Maeras of Madison. The project originally was designed as a 120-bed facility, but plans later were amended to increase the size of the home to 180 beds.

Cost was estimated at that time at $1.3 million.

Through 1976 and 1977, the City Council approved a series of actions, including approval of plans, sewer and drainage plans, zoning and an agreement under which the developers proposed to turn over sole ownership of the nursing home to the city when the financing cost was retired at the end of a 20-year amortization period.

Maeras told the aldermen that he would develop and operate the nursing home facilities through the Illinois Health, Recreational and Retirement Facilities, Corp., as a not-for-profit organization.

The agreement under which the city would accept the nursing home as a "gift" after the cost was paid off provided the construction would be financed with $1,750,000 in first mortgage gross revenue acquisition and construction bonds and $150,000 in subordinated acquisition, construction, and development income notes issued by Illinois Health, Recreational and Retirement Facilities, Inc.

The financing was to be handled privately and did not involve the issuance of bonds by the city.

In March 1977, a hearing by the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency on a request for a permit to operate the home was cancelled and Maeras said that a different procedure was to be followed in meeting the health agency requirements.

The nursing home was proposed for construction on a 16-acre tract of land on Mockingbird Lane between the Steelecrest subdivision and the Alton and Southern Railroad tracks.

Blood drive expanded

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record

Gasoline isn't the only commodity in very short supply these days.

A depletion in blood inventories also is acutely noticeable at the present time.

Those needing life-saving transfusions and the important blood derivatives, such as platelets, cannot stand in line at service stations, or wait for a new shipment to be delivered.

When blood is needed, the time factor usually is immediate.

Blood can't be manufactured. It has to come from people.

To help offset the lowering blood inventory level, an extra donor day has been added to next week's annual summer blood drive in the Quad-Cities.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile unit's previously announced hours and station are set.

Tuesday, July 10, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Wednesday, July 11, from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m., at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave., on both days.

Thursday, July 12, from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at St. Mary Catholic Church in Madison.

Additionally, an extra donor day will take place at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Friday, July 13, from 11 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

The public may donate blood at any of the three locations during the hours specified.

Mrs. Ruth Partney, who is serving as drive chairman at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, asks those wishing to give blood July 13 to come to the Wiesman Room in the hospital complex.

An appointment is not necessary, but a time can be arranged, if desired, by calling the hospital at 793-3028, she added.

Church Women United of the Quad-Cities is sponsoring the community-wide blood drive.

All healthy persons 17 years and older and weighing over 110 pounds may donate blood. Donors over 60 years should bring a recent health statement from their physician.

The Missouri-Illinois Regional Blood Center, which serves the blood needs of 146 hospitals in this area, including St. Elizabeth Medical Center, has issued an emergency appeal for donors due to acute shortages.

The blood drive here is very important to the overall appeal, as most units donated here are used to produce blood platelets.

Platelets are given to victims of leukemia and patients who are undergoing chemotherapy treatment for cancer, neither of whom is able to produce his or her own.

Platelets may only be produced from blood donated within a short driving distance from the St. Louis center, it was noted.

treating what is said primarily as background information helpful in describing later board actions.

"If the board members were heard making plans to run off to Mexico with a few million dollars, we would, of course, disregard the confidentiality rule," a newsmen commented this week in explaining how the procedure has worked.

"On less dramatic developments that we feel the public should know about, we feel the president or superintendent to repeat the pertinent information afterward, and quote one or the other as having said it after the meeting," the newsmen added.

Past and present editors have taken the position that, on balance, the benefits when there is some degree of public awareness of all board conversations, rather than articles being limited to bare-bones reports of specific motions and resolutions. Years ago, some boards gave little or no insight into their policies and decisions. Board Member Partney last week was quoted on comments he made the day after the June 26 meeting. The entire article, "Politics alleged in school hiring," consisted of alleged comments by Partney plus remarks by various members in the open meeting.

He indicated this week he expects to continue telling the news media of details of any future executive sessions. When questioned, he amended this to say he would not include confidential data on employees, applicants and sites.

Even with some employee, applicant and site information omitted, he perhaps will encounter opposition from school officials regarding handling of executive discussions and documents, it is believed. Points of disagreement include the way recommendation lists are characterized to the public, their content, and the give-and-take of the board's deliberations in making a personnel decision.

At one time, superintendents made only recommendations for a specific job, and insisted on this right under penalty of loss of accreditation of the school system if there was no recommendation.

Believing that this did not prevent "patronage" and that it gave a single, non-elected individual excessive power, more recent boards have called for multiple recommendations when there were several candidates of approximately equal qualifications.

Partney this week issued a press release in which he discussed the hiring of three teachers from among nine applicants, and listed four administrators as having conducted interviews.

He identified one administrator as having submitted a written report to the board. He added:

"There were four top-ranked persons in a one to four order, holding highest qualifications for three positions. Next, there was a list of five applicants considered having equal qualifications, but it was stated that..."

Part of the press release is omitted here as potentially libelous.

Partney concluded, "I do not believe, in many items being discussed in the executive sessions, I don't believe in something conducted in executive session, I won't change my opinion in open session."

"Throughout my campaign for the board post, I received complaints from many people who have been satisfactorily protesting for the district in many positions, but when fulltime positions opened up, they were bypassed by the board. I don't believe in this method of hiring."

To appeal rezoning order

Granite City "has acquiesced if not cooperated in the turning of Johnson Road into what it is today," Associate Judge John Day said in a ruling that reverses the city's denial of a request for rezoning of property at 2130 Johnson Road for use as a dental office and residential property in the area.

City Council members who have the final say on rezoning issues have instructed Assistant City Attorney Irvin Slate Jr. to appeal the court ruling to the Appellate Court.

The ruling was handed down by Judge Day in favor of Alan J. Briggs, Karen L. Briggs and Fred Fossleck who filed a petition for declaratory judgment after city officials denied a request for rezoning the Johnson Road property.

The request for the rezoning was opposed by some residents of the neighborhood who maintained a professional office at the location would increase traffic problems and decrease the value of residential property in the area.

In his ruling, Judge Day said, "The evidence of both the plaintiffs and the defendant showed that Johnson Road is a heavily traveled street with many commercial establishments. Based upon the testimony, it is the opinion of the court that the rezoning of the property in question will substantially increase traffic on the already heavily traveled Johnson Road.

"Traffic itself is not a critical factor," the judge continued, adding, "As the Illinois Supreme Court observed, 'we have recognized traffic as a factor, it is not in itself entitled to too much weight since it is a problem in all but the most sheltered neighborhoods and is constantly getting worse'."

Judge Day cited testimony concerning a number of commercial establishments in the same neighborhood. His ruling noted:

"The non-conforming pre-existing uses have been permitted by the city of Granite City over a long period of time. The city has acquiesced if not cooperated in the turning of Johnson Road into what it is today."

"Again, the evidence in this cause shows the operation of highly commercialized areas in this immediate vicinity of the requested use. It is the opinion of the court that the denial of the use by the city of Granite City was arbitrary and capricious and that the denial of rezoning in question is not related to the health, safety, morals or general welfare of the citizens of Granite City."

Barnett to head York Rite units

Richard Barnett, Granite City, will be installed today at 7:45 p.m. in an open ceremony at the Granite City Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, as excellent high priest of Granite City Chapter 221 of Royal Arch Masons, thrice illustrious master of St. Clair Council 61 Royal and Select Masters, and as eminent commander of Emmanuel Commandery 81, Knights Templar.

The three organizations that Barnett will head constitute that branch of Free-masonry known as the York Rite.

Barnett is a 32nd degree Mason of the Scottish Rite, Mississippi Valley Consistory, a member of the Krazy Klowns of the Ancient and Accepted Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Almad Temple, and a member of Triple Lodge 835, AF&AM Granite City.

CAMPAIGN DEBATE

On Oct. 22, 1976, President Ford and Jimmy Carter held their third and final presidential campaign debate.

ALLEGED GAS THEFT

Anthony R. Shamlian, 18, of 2407 Delmar Ave., was arrested at 9:50 p.m. Monday at the Mascot Car Wash and was charged with theft for allegedly siphoning gasoline from a parked auto. Dan Taylor, who is affiliated with the car wash, said he was checking the business when he saw two young men removing gasoline from a parked vehicle. He fought with one and held him until police arrived, but the other escaped. Shamlian later was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation of a head injury, a swollen nose and pain to his back and chest.

Mrs. Pritchard, 84, dies

Mrs. Bertha (Wehrle) Pritchard, 84, a resident of the Colonial Haven Nursing Home for the last four years, died at 3:40 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mrs. Pritchard had been a patient at the medical facility for nine days.

She was born in Indiana and had lived in Granite City for 49 years. Previously, she had made her home in Edwardsville.

Mrs. Pritchard was a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Her husband, John Pritchard, died Oct. 31, 1959. She also was preceded in death by two sons, John Pritchard in 1972 and Eugene Pritchard in 1933.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. John (Rosemary) Kozor of Granite City; three sons, Robert, Richard and William Pritchard, all of Granite City; 50 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Services were held at 9:30 a.m. today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Bike-a-thon to aid cancer fund Aug. 5

A bicycle ride while helping the American Cancer Society continue its services to cancer patients and supporting vital research work is planned Sunday, Aug. 5, in Granite City.

In announcing the fifth annual ride, Joe Lucido of Granite City, event chairman, said, "Adults, teens and younger children are being encouraged to take part in this fun day program."

Prizes will be awarded to the persons collecting pledges of varying amounts from friends, relatives and neighbors who act as sponsors, he explained.

The ride will start at Niedringhaus School, 29th and State streets, with registration beginning at noon Aug. 5.

The cyclists will begin the ride at 1 p.m. sharp.

Before the riders depart from the school grounds, each participant will receive a packet containing a map, checkpoint card, a Bike-A-Thon patch and a set of instructions.

The course for this summer's ride remains the same as last year.

Lucido said the objective of the ride is to secure as many sponsors as possible who will pledge a given amount of money to the cancer fund for each mile completed by the cyclist.

Sponsor sheets may be obtained at the present time at the Granite City Federal Credit Union office, the Tri-Cities Area YMCA, First Granite City National Bank, Reese Drugs, J&R Bicycle Shop and McDonald's Restaurant, or by calling Susan Thompson at 797-6938.

INJURES BACK

Dennis Caffrey, 26, of 1608 Seventh St., Madison, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 1:15 a.m. Wednesday with an injury to his back after his car overturned on Highway 162 near Route 111. He suffered pain between his shoulder blades. X-rays were negative, but a spinal injury was suspected and he was admitted.

Busy scout camp again rated 'tops'

Camp Sunnen once again has received the highest rating for a Boy Scout camp.

A new department, special events, has been established under the direction of Tom Busch. With Assistant Program Director Jeff Yates, he has set up four "outposts."

The outposts are Aquatic, featuring such activities as canoe races; Yukon, where scouts are building a full-size log cabin; Cowpoke, where pastimes include lasso practice and telling of cowboy stories; and Wilderness Survival, where survival shelters are being built and there is instruction on edible plants and other wilderness topics.

Groups of about 20 scouts report to an outpost in the late afternoon and remain overnight. Two outposts are scheduled each week throughout the other two each Thursday.

Brook Gore heads scoutcraft, which has a new obstacle course complete with walls to climb, logs to cross and ropes to swing across a pit.

Program Director is Lee Caldwell and throughout each week there is much attention to attainment of badges and three special badge qualifications.

There are creek hikes, star hikes, soap making, cooking demonstrations, trap making, axe and knife instruction and such pioneering projects as rope tying, building of monkey bridges and construction of towers.

Gregg Grimaud runs the trading post, Paul Jones the quartermaster program and Bob Moske the commissary.

Campwide events include special days, usually on Wednesdays. Indian Day brought on appropriate attire for many of the campers and staff members, and cooking followed that theme. Patrols competed in archery and making of arrowheads.

Ozark Day prompted mountainier costumes, punning for "gold" and suitable events and meals.

Other highlights of the eventful summer have included cliff descents and trips through a mud cave.

Venice woman shot in face; suspect held

Denise Hardy, 22, of 1029 Bissell Ave., Venice, is in the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Medical Center in critical condition, suffering a shotgun blast to her face.

She was admitted at 4:23 a.m. Wednesday. As a result of the wound she has numerous cuts to her tongue, gums, loss of all of her upper teeth and loss of her upper lip.

Police answered a call at 3:57 a.m. Wednesday on the shooting at 1029 Bissell Ave. Miss Hardy walked outside to meet police, bleeding profusely about the face but could not talk due to the facial injuries, police said.

Police are holding a 21-year-old Venice man, charged with attempted murder pending a court appearance today.

When police arrived at the scene they found large amounts of blood on the bedroom floor, blood on a fan, kitchen floor and wall, they reported.

Small metal fragments were found on the kitchen floor and embedded in a door panel which are believed to be pellets from the shotgun.

Venice police went to a suspect's house and received consent from the individual to search.

Their search turned up a 20-gauge, sawed-off shotgun, with an 11-inch barrel, hidden under a floor board in the basement.

Police found the barrel of the gun in a closet, officers reported.

House fills with gas; arrest owner

Stephen Harris, 29, of 203 Wilson Park Lane, was arrested at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and was charged with reckless conduct for allegedly allowing his home to fill with natural gas, thus endangering neighboring homes and nearby persons.

Police first were called to Harris' home at 10:40 a.m. Tuesday and found a strong odor of natural gas. There was no answer at the door, so Patrolman Roger Hayes entered through an unsecured window and found Harris inside. Harris said he had not smelled the gas, Hayes reported.

Officers turned off the gas and left. Fifty minutes later, neighbors reported a strong odor of gas again and Hayes and Sgt. Glenn Wright returned to the house.

The front door was forced open and police found the oven and burners on with the pilot lights blown out. The pilot also was out in the hot water heater in the basement, the officers discovered.

Harris, who was in the home, was arrested and jailed. The policemen found him inhaled quite a bit of the gas, they reported, and Hayes required treatment at the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Governor bitter over road, corporate tax issues

Governor James R. Thompson said Monday that funding for roads and mass transit and a fair replacement for the corporate personal property tax head the list of "unfinished or ignored business" of the 81st General Assembly.

He also said the Assembly's "failure to act on ceilings on taxes and spending at the state and local level — demanded by the voters in a referendum last fall — was a high-handed insult to the 11 million people of Illinois."

"Not only did the General Assembly kill the tax and spending limitations that I proposed in answer to the overwhelming approval of the 'Thompson Proposition,' but they killed their own tax and spending limitations they had boasted about all session in order to try and embarrass me with their phony sales tax relief bill," Thompson said.

"The General Assembly has failed to come to grips with the crisis in our transportation system," Thompson said.

"It has rejected three separate proposals I put forward, two of them in concert with the mayor of Chicago, to avert a catastrophe in the roads and rails that carry the lifeblood of our economy and materially affect the quality of life of every man, woman and child in Illinois."

"Until and unless the Assembly acts to face the hard truth that the state must find new funding for roads and mass transit, we can do no more than mark time while our livelihoods and lifestyles deteriorate along with our transportation system."

Thompson said if the Assembly fails to agree to a comprehensive transportation program soon, the state will face massive losses in federal funding and a whole construction season. "Our immediate loss will be $70 million in federal mass transit funding," Thompson said.

"Over the long run, we will be jeopardizing tens of millions of dollars in other federal funds for highway repairs and construction, for priority primary highways, including U.S. Route 51 and the Chicago-Kansas City Expressway."

"We will also be risking the loss of the benefit that the City of Chicago, the County of Cook, and the collar counties in the Chicago metropolitan area could have from the $1.7 billion in federal funds that would be freed up by abandoning plans to build the Cross-town Expressway and the Franklin Street Subway in Chicago."

"The Assembly knows we can't have something for nothing. It knows we can't repair and maintain our highways and bridges without new funding."

"It knows we can't have mass transit at fares working men and women can afford unless we have enough state and federal dollars to keep it working."

"This is not a time to posture. It is a time to act. If the Assembly can't accept any of the three plans I have proposed, it must come up with one of its own that will meet the needs we have at a price we can pay," Thompson said.

Thompson repeated his earlier pledge not to sign the Assembly-passed replacement for the state corporate personal property tax.

He said he will soon decide whether to sign an amendment or outright veto of the bill and whether he will call a special session to attempt to win passage of "a fair tax that replaces, instead of adding to, the tax burden on the business sector."

"The issue is simple," Gov. Thompson said.

"The Assembly has taken a Constitutional mandate to simply replace the corporate personal property tax with an alternative but equal tax, and acted instead to give the back of its hand to the businesses that support more than four out of every five jobs in this state."

"This is a time when we must do everything possible to make Illinois an attractive place for business and industry to prosper and grow and create new jobs."

"It is not a time to be sending out signals to the private sector that state government doesn't care if business and industries pack up and move out to some other state that understands the very real relationship between its economic climate and jobs for its people."

"It will not be a party to enactment of any replacement tax that goes far beyond generating the revenues earned from the corporate personal property tax," Thompson said.

"The compromise proposal I advanced, after countless meetings with legislators and after communications with business, industry, schools and local governments, was fair to all."

"What the assembly has passed far exceeds what the property tax generated and what local governments and school districts need to replace their income from that tax."

"My position is not pro-business. It is pro-jobs. That is the issue. That is the bottom line the Assembly must reach in agreeing to a rational, reasonable replacement for the corporate personal property tax."

Thompson said the Assembly "did act responsibly in taking a first step toward curbing some abuses in the Unemployment Insurance system."

"Equally important, the Assembly's action showed we can have hope that the 'equalized bill' passed depended on to win passage of the UI bill can be used to address abuses in our Workmen's Compensation program next year."

"It's not enough to say, as some members of the assembly have, that even with the increases it has voted in the corporate income tax, Illinois would still have a lower tax rate than some of the neighboring states that are competing for our jobs."

"Like business, the state has to look at the bottom line of what it costs to do business in Illinois," Thompson said. "The fact is, the corporate income tax is only one part of the cost of doing business."

"Other costs, like that caused by abuses in the workmen's compensation system, are far out of line with other states."

"And when a plant manager adds up all the other parts on the way to a decision on whether to stay in Illinois, or expand in Illinois, or set up shop in Illinois, a bottom line that's grossly out of line with the bottom line in other states is going to make the difference."

In comments on other actions taken by the General Assembly in its spring session, Thompson said the legislators failed to act on, or ignored, a number of other issues critical to the state.

"The people voted four-to-one last November in favor of ceilings on taxes and spending at the state and local level."

"But the assembly leadership ignored that vote and instead rammed through a high-handed insult in the form of a sales tax cut they know the state can't afford without major slashes in spending for our schools, services for the elderly, families and children, mental health or other essential services."

"It is nothing less than a cruel hoax on the people to pass a pie-in-the-sky tax cut that would force cuts in essential programs that those same people depend on in their daily lives."

The billion dollars in revenues this bill would cost over the next four years is equal to nearly half of the state aid for schools this year, or nearly all of the state share of the cost of health and human services programs in any one year.

"We simply can't afford a cut in revenues of this magnitude at a time when the national economy is entering a downturn which will force more people on the unemployment and welfare roles, and when we are facing the certainty of major cuts in federal aid which makes up nearly a quarter of all state spending," Thompson said.

"We can afford to increase 'circuit breaker' tax relief for senior citizens, the handicapped and others on fixed income which I proposed in my budget — but which the Assembly leadership killed along with the ceilings on taxes and spending on its way to passing the travesty of a sales tax cut they knew should never, have seen the light of day."

Thompson commended the General Assembly for its actions on a number of proposals he advanced or strongly supported during the spring session. Among these:

— "Constructive changes in the state school aid formula to distribute state funds more equitably among the more than 1,000 local school districts."

"However," he said, "it remains to be seen how much of the nearly $60 million in school aid the assembly voted over and above the $80 million increase proposed in my budget we can afford."

"It will depend on how far over my budget the assembly went in other programs and on the outcome of the transportation funding issue, among other things."

"Passage of nearly $6 million requested to step up the state's efforts to combat child abuse and neglect."

— "Approval of more than $13 million in additional funding for operational improvements the state desperately needs to overcome years of neglect in our prison system."

— "Holding the line on welfare, Medicaid and social services spending which will make it possible for me to sign the five percent cost-of-living increase in benefits to people on welfare rolls and a seven per cent increase for nursing home care."

— "Agreeing to my proposal that the departments of Business and Economic Development and Local Government Affairs and jobs programs from the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development be merged into a single Department of Commerce and Community Affairs."

"This will enable us to streamline and improve our efforts to help local governments plan for and cope with development and to attract new business and industry to the state," Gov. Thompson said.

"I still have hope that the Assembly will act favorably on my proposal to consolidate all of the state's civil rights programs into a single Department of Human Rights to make it possible for us to respond more quickly and effectively to civil rights complaints in jobs, housing and all other areas."

— "Making Illinois the first in the nation to elevate rehabilitation programs to cabinet status by creating a new Department of Rehabilitation Services with broadened responsibilities for services to disabled persons and their families."

— "Agreeing to a proposal to create a 24-hour radiation monitoring system around all nuclear power plants — to be funded by fees charged to utilities — and agreeing to create a use-fee funded system to control and monitor the disposal of hazardous chemical and solid wastes."

— "Acting to bring state law into compliance with federal statutes to ensure that Illinois will remain eligible for federal aid to help pay for the reclamation of strip-mined lands."

Higher pay for aluminum cans

For the second time this year, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company is increasing the amount it pays the public for recycling aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum.

Effective July 3, the company is paying 23 cents per pound, an increase of three cents per pound, announced by Richard N. Bolling, president of the company.

"The energy saving afforded by recycling aluminum has increased the value of the metal," Bolling said.

"As the value of aluminum increases, so do the number of people recycling and the number of pounds of aluminum that they keep out of the litter and solid waste stream.

"This was evidenced by the increased number of recyclers and pounds collected after we raised the price from 17 cents to 20 cents a pound last February," Bolling said.

"Our two and a half million individual customer transactions nationwide last year paid the public more than $25.4 million.

"This is the sixth price increase in the 11-year history of the program, demonstrating that as the metal becomes more valuable, Reynolds will maintain its leadership in recycling with inflation-fighting dollars paid to the public for their recyclable aluminum."

Locally, Reynolds recycles at the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, Nameoki and Pontoon roads, Granite City, every Friday from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

One of aluminum's assets is that it can be used again and again, each time saving about 95 percent of the energy required to make it from ore.

In 1978, Reynolds recycling efforts conserved about one billion kilowatt-hours of electricity.

Last year, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Reynolds Metals Co., recycled 3.2 billion aluminum beverage cans, equivalent to 56 percent of the aluminum cans produced during the year. It is the country's largest manufacturer of aluminum cans.

In addition to 80 permanent recycling facilities, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling operates more than 150 mobile recycling units.

The company has nearly 900 aluminum collection points and does business in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Besides all-aluminum beverage cans and other household individual customer products such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays and cheese and meat containers, Reynolds recycles certain other aluminum products, including siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, lawn furniture tubing and aluminum castings which are sold at 25 cents per pound if properly prepared.

Such aluminum material is free of all foreign materials and cut to lengths not exceeding three feet. It should not be mixed with aluminum cans.

Venice has hearing on revenue sharing funds

Prior to the Venice City Council meeting Tuesday evening an open hearing was held in order for residents of the city to voice opinions and ideas to the council for use of federal revenue sharing funds in the 1979-80 city budget.

Milton Morris, founder of OATH (Organization for Advancement of The Handicapped) addressed the council.

He explained that OATH was serving eight persons from the city of Venice and the cost per client was $750 per year.

Morris noted that the handicapped workshop, in Madison, operated on about $25,000 last year. He explained funding came from basically personal contributions, Venice Township, City of Madison and the 708 board. According to Morris they had request $41,000 from the 708 board in order to be able to serve more people, but that only $11,000 was given to them.

Morris asked the council to consider giving $4,000 to OATH, which would help care for the Venice people in the program.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said, "I feel OATH is worthwhile and we will certainly discuss your request with the entire council. However, I can not promise anything as you know the city's financial position."

A discussion was held on the council on why OATH had so much trouble getting money to operate and it was felt by one alderman and another city official that the problem was because of a personality conflict between one of the key members of OATH and various other persons.

Mayor Echols read a tentative use of the $168,931 in federal revenue funds expected.

Tentative budget, subject to change, is as follows: street department labor $5,000, demolition of unsafe buildings $10,000, civil defense $2,000, senior citizens and Association of Retired Persons $15,000, ambulance service $15,000, city building repairs $15,000, police protection salaries $106,000, and administrative costs $331.

Another public hearing will be held reference the federal revenue sharing funds sometime before July 31 after the city budget had been decided upon.

AUTO WHEELS TAKEN Paul Woodruff, 2428 E. 23rd St., found that while his car was at an auto repair shop Goodyear tires and four mag wheels valued at $500 were taken off the car in addition to other parts.

New GC budget bill approved

A new Granite City budget bill for the current 1979-80 fiscal year—projecting total expenditures of $10.2 million—was approved on final passage by the City Council Tuesday night.

The new appropriation measure was enacted without discussion. It was placed on first reading in the June 26 meeting to give the aldermen an opportunity to study the measure before it went to a final vote.

"It is the earliest the budget has been completed and approved in many years. Customarily budget items are discussed down to the deadline for passage and there have been several instances in which the budget bill was approved only a matter of minutes before the midnight, July 31, deadline.

In contrast to previous years, the new appropriation bill is comprised of five separate budgets. In past years, the city has drafted a general operating budget and a separate budget for expenditure of federal revenue sharing funds.

The new bill, however, consists of a general operating budget, separate budgets for the sewage treatment plant, Community Development projects and motor fuel tax expenditures. The federal revenue sharing budget again is separated from the other appropriations.

The new budget includes a $6,633,319 general operating budget, a budget of $988,807 for Community Development projects, $1,421,475 for the treatment plant and $194,357 for motor fuel tax expenditures.

The new revenue sharing budget of $996,237 is an increase of $232,276 over the $763,961 revenue sharing budget of a year ago.

Total projected expenditures in all of the budgets amount to $10,204,195.

Mrs. Beneze was born in Sparta, Ill. She had lived in Alton before coming here nine years ago.

She was of the Catholic faith.

Her husband, John Beneze, died in 1958.

Surviving are a son, William Ed Mines of Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Alice Pate of Belleville; and one grandchild, two great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

CAR HITS POLE

Robert Cochran, 17, of 2013 Thirteenth St., was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 2:44 p.m. Monday after a car he was driving hit a utility pole and he bumped his mouth on the steering wheel. He was released after treatment.

Cleanup begins Monday

All of the city area east of Nameoki Road between Edwards Street and Victory Drive will be covered by city trucks in the first phase of a citywide cleanup drive that will be conducted by the city's sanitation department beginning Monday, James Stack, coordinator of the program, announced Tuesday.

Stack said the pickups of trash, debris and castoff articles will include the areas of Herbert, Alexander, Edna and Louisa, the 2800 blocks of Lincoln, East 24th, East 25th, and Anhegare, Pershing, Palmer and Victory.

The drive will provide householders an opportunity to get rid of many items that usually it is difficult to have hauled away.

The sanitation department, using trucks provided by the street department, will pick up old heaters, tires, mattresses, refrigerators, stoves and other castoff items. The workers will not pick up brush, limbs or household garbage, Stack said.

Stack said it will take about three days to cover the area specified in the first phase of the drive. Workers will move from one section of the city to another as coverage is completed.

The areas to be covered will be notified in advance so that residents may move their discarded items and trash to alleys, if there is one, or along the curbs in front of the homes.

Stack said that four days in advance of the cleanup action in each neighborhood, doorhanger notices will be left at every home.

Everything to be hauled must be moved into the alleys or along curbs by the date given in the notice, he explained, noting that there will be no callbacks.

Mrs. Winters dies, Red Cross volunteer

Mrs. Ruby (Compton) Winters, 78, of 2708 Harvey Place, a key volunteer for many years with the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter, died at 1 p.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She had been in failing health for the last two years and had entered the medical center a week ago today.

"We have lost one of our great ladies, because that is what she truly was," Mrs. Mildred Meehan, executive director of the local Red Cross chapter, said today.

Mrs. Winters began working with the Red Cross when she was only 13 years old and was taught to knit by another volunteer.

In World War II, she became one of this community's top volunteer workers, handling the Red Cross Services to Military program on a day-by-day basis.

Mrs. Winters also served as Red Cross Blood Bank chairman during World War II and for many years afterward.

She served several terms on the Red Cross board of directors.

Mrs. Winters was born in Sorrento, Ill., but had resided in Granite City since moving here with her parents as a young child.

She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Her husband, Walter Winters, died in February 1963.

Surviving are one brother, Bryan Compton of Granite City; two nieces, Mrs. Lee (Elna) Gornell of Granite City and Mrs. Edward (Kathryn) Hoff of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; and several great nieces and nephews.

Arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

3 arrests at carnival

There were three arrests after minor disturbances at the Wilson Park carnival last night, but police reported that the July 4 festivities in the park were relatively quiet this year.

Two women were arrested for fighting at the carnival at 9:20 p.m. Officers reported a large crowd gathered around Francis Blincoe, 38, of 2412 Madison Ave., and Cheryl Phelps, 27, of 1116 State St., Madison, who were arrested and were released on $35 bond each.

At 10:50 p.m. yesterday, two young men were asked to leave the carnival because they appeared to have been drinking liquor, according to officers. However, they did not leave the park and stopped for about three minutes to talk to a group of people, police said.

The two then were taken into custody. David L. Goldschmidt, 18, of 1525 Delmar Ave., allegedly resisted being arrested, pulled away from an officer and started to run. An officer wrestled with him and handcuffed him.

During that scuffle, the second young man escaped, officers said. Goldschmidt was charged with disorderly conduct and was released on $35 bond.

The annual fireworks display in the park attracted thousands of area residents, many who applauded the display as the best in recent years.

There were two minor incidents during the fireworks. One aerial bomb went off only about 12 feet off the ground, sending spectators scattering momentarily.

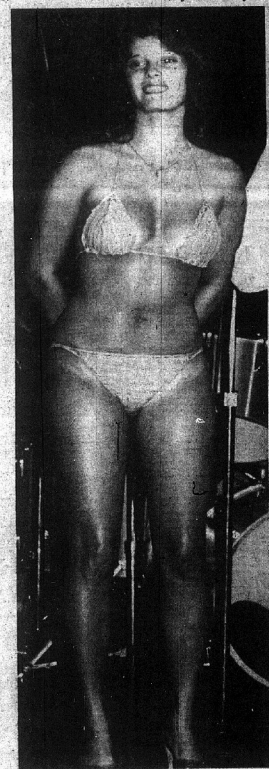

The other minor incident was when one of the ground displays fell over while burning. There were no injuries reported in either incident.

Officers responded to dozens of complaints about fireworks being detonated in various parts of the city, but only one young man was arrested.

Daniel W. Schaus, 19, of 2106 E. 24th St., was charged with discharging fireworks after police alleged seeing him light a string of firecrackers on the parking lot of the Kroger Food Store at 12:40 a.m. today. He was released on $35 cash bond.

$8,000 FIRE LOSS

Fire, which began in an overstuffed chair on the upstairs back porch of the home of William Vaughn, 2401 rear Washington Ave., caused an estimated $8,000 damage to the building and $3,000 to its contents at 11:10 p.m. Tuesday. A cigarette is suspected as the cause, but police questioned two teenagers who were seen running from the home. The fire spread from the porch into the kitchen, damaging walls and cabinets. Firemen were on the scene 90 minutes.

Pontoon Lions welcome new leaders

Senior citizen trip planned

A senior citizen trip to Busch Stadium for the 7:35 baseball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Atlanta Braves on July 26 is being planned by the Granite City Park District.

Tickets are $2 and must be purchased at the time of registration, which may be done at the park office or at

No additional sr. citizen tax relief this year

Senior citizen property tax relief died in the Illinois legislature during the weekend. Under House Senate rules, all bills which passed only one house were postponed until 1980.

"The basic responsibility for the death of all the bills to help make it easier for seniors and the disabled to pay their real estate taxes must fall on the shoulders of Senate Democrats," alleged State Rep. Cal Skinner Jr. (R-McHenry County).

"They made a decision that the only tax relief that would be sent to the governor's desk would be their proposal to cut the sales tax from food and drugs, even though the governor has stated publicly that he will veto it."

"The Democrats decided to send the governor no further moderate tax relief proposals, including House Bill 188, which is sponsored by virtually every state representative," Skinner charged. "I think that is an unfortunate decision, to say the least."

"For my part, I shall continue to urge senior citizens to contact their state senators in support of House Bill 188. If enacted, the proposal would limit a senior's taxes to four percent of household income. For example, if a senior's tax bill were $300 and her income $5,000, she would receive a tax rebate check for $300."

OK purchases

The Granite City Board of Education has voted to purchase three electric ranges and two compact refrigerators from Kendall Appliance at a total cost of $950.

The electric ranges cost $250 each and the refrigerators were purchased for $130 each. Kendall was the only bidder on the items. A previous reference to the purchase price was in error.

Senate confirms Wilkins selection

The appointment of Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr., 46, Granite City physician, as a member of the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees, announced Friday by Gov. James R. Thompson, has been confirmed by the Illinois Senate.

Dr. Wilkins, a pediatrician, assumes the position left vacant by the resignation of Dr. David F. Rendleman, a Carbondale physician. Dr. Rendleman, who had been appointed March 6, submitted his resignation at the April 12 Board meeting, citing a possible conflict of interest because of his association with a Carbondale bank.

Dr. Wilkins will serve a six-year term which expires Jan. 28, 1985. He is expected to attend the July 12 meeting of the board in Carbondale, where a chancellor may be chosen.

Dr. Wilkins is the son of George T. Wilkins Sr., the 1958-62 state superintendent of public instruction and former Madison County superintendent of schools.

Dr. Wilkins is a past president of the Tri-City Medical Society, Madison County Medical Society and Illinois State Medical Society. He is a member of the board of the American Medical Association's Political Action Committee and is a past chairman of the Illinois group of the committee. He also has served on a large number of AMA and Illinois State committees and commissions and consultancies and is an Illinois State Medical Society delegate to the AMA.

A graduate of the University of Illinois Medical School, Dr. Wilkins serves on the clinical pediatrics faculty at Washington University Medical School and is associated with St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City and Oliver Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Dr. Wilkins and his wife, Fran, have four children. They live in Glen Carbon.

FURNACE OVERHEATS
Damage was estimated at $75 when a furnace blower motor overheated at the home of William Jakich, 2304 Woodman Ave., last week. Firemen were on the scene 30 minutes.

Education board to elect

The State Board of Education will hold its annual conference on July 8, 9 and 10 at Carson Inn-Nordic Hills Conference Center in Itasca. The conference will consist of workshops for members of the board. It will begin Sunday with a business meeting to elect board officers. After the election, board members will attend workshops until 4:30 p.m.

On Monday, workshops will run from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. The Tuesday sessions will start at 8:30 a.m. and end at noon.

The entire three-day conference is open to the public, but there will be no opportunity for public participation. No official business will be conducted during the workshops, and the board's regular monthly meeting will be held July 26 in Springfield.

Bushel of grain vs. barrel of oil?

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

The worry of a "bushel for a barrel" may be gaining popularity with motorists and farmers frustrated by long lines, short supplies and high prices for gasoline.

But it is regarded as a hollow scream of protest by Illinois' corn belt Congressmen.

The idea embodied in the slogan is that the U.S. should use its agricultural might to retaliate against the organization of petroleum countries.

If OPEC wants to jack up oil prices, let it. We will retaliate by boosting the price of each bushel of grain the OPEC nations buy from us, it is asserted.

That idea of matching the Arab oil cartel with an American grain cartel takes form in legislation sponsored by Rep. Jim Weaver, D-Ore. His bill would create a national grain board as the sole seller and marketing agent for all grain exports.

For an American consumer who must feel defenseless, it must be a tempting prospect to consider striking back by raising grain prices.

But Congressmen from grain-producing districts in Illinois say the plan is flawed.

"It would be a good idea if it would work, but I do not think it would work," said Rep. Tom Corcoran, R-Ill., the only Illinoisan on the commerce committee's Energy and Power subcommittee.

One of the problems is that the U.S. depends on OPEC for about 50 percent of its crude oil, but the OPEC nations do not depend upon the U.S. for 50 percent of their grain needs, Corcoran said.

If the U.S. jacked up its grain prices, OPEC could simply shop elsewhere, Corcoran said.

"Assuming we could control the market, the second major problem would have to be that we would have to organize a grain cartel," Corcoran said.

That would be tantamount to nationalizing the grain market, creating a new export bureaucracy which would lead to more production controls and price uncertainties for both producers and consumers, Corcoran said.

The assessment is shared by Republican Reps. Paul Findley of Pittsfield and Ed Madigan of Lincoln, both members of the House Agriculture Committee.

Findley said creating the National Grain Board would be like turning over a $17 billion business to a government bureaucracy. Madigan said the slogan "bushel for a barrel" provides a "misleading assessment of our situation."

The countries which are big customers for U.S. grain, such as Japan and European nations, have no oil to trade, while those that do have oil can shop elsewhere for their grain, Madigan said.

Rep. George O'Brien, R-Joliet, joins in that chorus.

"Let's face it," O'Brien says. "We need their oil more than they need our wheat. If we raised our wheat prices, OPEC countries would simply turn to other wheat producers for lower prices or switch to other grains, like rice, which is in abundant supply on the world market."

"That means our farmers lose a third of their market, and whatever semblance of a balance of trade we have now would surely go to pot. Those conclusions are reinforced by an analysis by the Republican study committee."

The committee noted that although the OPEC nations obtained about half their wheat and 20 percent of all their agricultural products from the U.S. last year, the OPEC nations could obtain their relatively small grain needs elsewhere.

Food power could be an effective tool only if the five nations controlling about 85 percent of the world's wheat exports — Canada, France, Australia, Argentina and the U.S. — would ban together. "Such close cooperation is unlikely in the near future," the committee said.

It seems equally unlikely that the "bushel for a barrel" idea will clear Congress. The Democratic leadership is vesting its hope in pushing development of synthetic fuels such as gasohol. But that alone is not going to shorten the gas lines this summer.

University Center staff is revamped

Richard Madison, director of University Center and Resident Life at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has announced a University Center management reorganization "in an effort to achieve greater efficiency from available levels of staffing."

Madison said the moves are in response to the realities of increasingly tight budgets, enrollment trends, and continued re-evaluation of institutional priorities. He continued:

"As a strong and vital organization, we must avoid rigidity and achieve the greatest possible efficiency in providing dynamic services and programs for the university and community."

Steve Winnett, University Center business manager, will assume the responsibilities of financial analysis and accounting for university housing, and his office will also assume additional duties to effect more centralized accounting for University Center departments.

"Procedures will be reviewed, and some activities and personnel will be transferred to the business office," Madison said. "Steps also are being initiated to go on-line with the data processing and computer center for financial operations."

Lytle Ward has assumed the title of assistant director for building programs, promotion and staff development. He will assume responsibilities for the Recreation Center and Crafts Center.

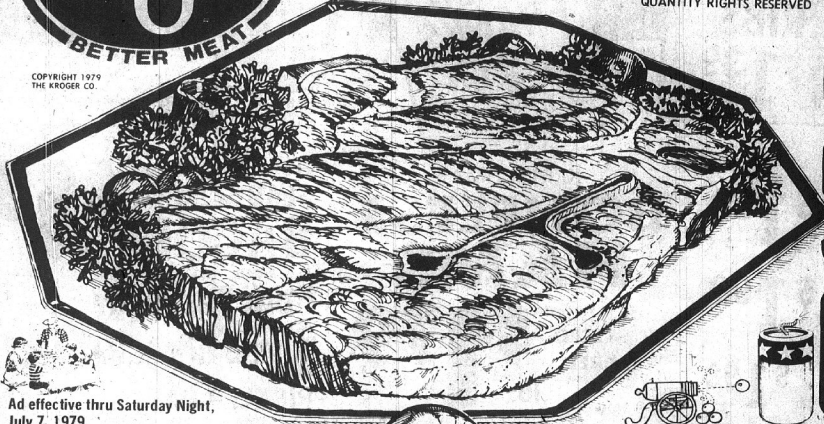

He also will be responsible for development of a travel center, initiating building promotional activities, and coordination of building graphics and advertising campaigns. He will continue to be responsible for the Program Department, the University Center board and the information desk-ticket office operations.

John Oxford has been named assistant director for facilities and services, assuming new responsibilities for the bookstore, building security and key control, as well as coordination of renovation activities. He also will continue responsibilities for scheduling, housekeeping and maintenance, night operations and Meridian Hall.

William Crabb, director of University Food Services, has assumed responsibility for a campus-wide locker rental system and will continue his responsibilities for various food services, including the University Center food operations, the Tower Lake Commons "Wild Turkey" and campus concessions and vending.

John 14:3 "...I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

Jesus Christ is coming again! What a blessed and comforting thought is this. He is coming again. He said He was and I believe Him. It is not necessary for us to know when He is coming, only that He is. It is necessary for us to be ready for His coming.

Jesus was speaking to His disciples in the above Scripture. He said to them, "I will come and receive you unto myself." Whatever promises Christ makes to one disciple, He must make to all His followers. He is not a respecter of persons. In effect, Christ says to you today, "I will come for you." You believe the promise of God.

Seeger will join Guthrie at Festival

Folk singer Pete Seeger will join Arlo Guthrie for an evening of music at the Mississippi River Festival (682-0100) on Wednesday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Seeger first fell in love with the five-string banjo and folk music in 1935 when his father took him to a North Carolina square dance festival.

A lifetime of musical experience has followed, with Seeger producing over 30 albums and several books about his special brand of folk music. His releases include Pete Seeger-Arlo Guthrie Together in Concert and The Essential Pete Seeger.

Seeger uses his versatile banjo and unique tunes to tell about the things he's seen while traveling around the world. His popularity with folk audiences is said to lie in this storytelling ability.

Appearing with Seeger will be contemporary folk artist Arlo Guthrie. His hits include "Alice's Restaurant" and "City of New Orleans."

The Jolly Twelve Pinocchio Club met last week for cards and a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Pauline Stevens.

Winners at cards were: Mable Lehme, Kathryn Smithson, Pauline Canham and Ann Giese.

Others present were Mildred Robinson, Emma Steinberg and Penny Ousley. Mrs. Canham will host the next meeting of the club.

Mary Brawley and George Weller wed

Miss Mary Brawley and Gerald Weller were married on June 22 in a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony at St. John United Church of Christ. The Rev. James Wory officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Brawley, 2033 Lindell Blvd., and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weller, 2809 Forest Ave.

For her wedding the bride chose a traditional gown of white chantilly lace. The V neckline was scalloped and the long fitted sleeves were cuffed in ruffles.

From the natural waistline, the full bouffant skirt fell into rows and rows of ruffles, flowing into a cathedral train.

Her walking length veil, set off with lace motifs, was secured by a Juliet cap of lace trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of silk roses.

The maid of honor was Bonnie Brawley, twin sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Charlene Kennerly, Joyce Johnson and Judy Weller, a sister of the groom.

Danna and Diana Brawley, nieces of the bride, served as junior bridesmaids. Sara Brawley, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of sky blue Silesta featuring Empire waists and scoop necklines. The junior bridesmaids wore gowns of white chantilly lace.

The best man was Tex Hensley and the groomsmen were Bob Weller, brother of the groom, Buddy Brawley, brother of the bride, and Steve Weller, brother of the groom.

Seating the guests were John and Craig Brawley, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Brawley chose a gown of polyester and chiffon for her daughter's wedding. The turquoise gown featured long sleeves and the skirt fell gracefully to the floor.

Mrs. Weller chose a floor length, green flowered gown. A rehearsal dinner and swim party was given at the home of the groom's parents.

A reception was held at the Crofton Home, Madison, with Frances Weller, a sister of the groom, attending the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School South and is employed as a unit secretary at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The groom is employed as an electrician at Granite City Steel.

The couple is at home in Granite City.

NEWLY MARRIED. The former Theresa VanHorn and Alan Feilner exchanged vows June 23 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald VanHorn.

Tri-City 113 splits July 4th doubleheader

Press-Record

Sports

GRANITE CITY (Ill.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, July 5, 1979—21

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — A diving catch by Tri-City's Jeff Tretter may have been the only thing that prevented his team's fourth of July American Legion double header from turning out a complete dud here Wednesday.

The catch preserved Tri-City's 8-5 win in the first game, and avoided a New Carlisle sweep at the distant travelers won the night-cap 3-1.

Tretter made the spectacular catch in the fifth inning of the opener. Tri-City had, at that point, a 7-2 lead. But New Carlisle had loaded the bases, and when designated hitter Al Williamson hit a line drive to right-center field, it looked as if the bases would be swept clean.

But Tretter, moving with the hit, dived to his right on the run and came up with the catch.

"If he doesn't get that it would have probably scored three runs," Tri-City coach Kirk Champion said. "But as it turned out, we shut off a bases loaded situation."

The importance of the catch wasn't immediately apparent. Tri-City had a five run lead thanks to a four-run fourth inning. And an additional run in the sixth had Tri-City looking like easy winners.

But in the seventh, New Carlisle made a run, that if not for Tretter's catch, would have brought it even.

It started with a single of the bat of New Carlisle's Greg Gilpin. The next batter, Jim Garoutte, singled to center.

When Tri-City's center fielder Blake Ambuehl couldn't come up with the ball, Gilpin scored and Garoutte went to second.

Jim Klute's triple drove in Garoutte. Klute was driven in by a sacrifice fly caught just outside of first base.

That made the score 8-5, but New Carlisle wasn't finished. A walk and a single brought the tying run to the plate with only one out.

But Tri-City's reliever Al Yount, in for starter Mike DeGonia in the sixth, struck out the next two batters to end the game.

Besides his outstanding defensive play, Tretter also contributed at the plate. His fourth inning home run drove in two of Tri-City's four runs in the inning.

Kevin Sykes' excuse me double drove in John Vrenick, who was a pinch runner for Steve Ficker, and Bob Stegmeyer's single drove in Mark Linhart for Tri-City's other two runs.

Stegmeyer also had an RBI in Tri-City's two-run first. His triple brought home Ambuehl, who singled ahead.

Stegmeyer scored on Jeff Parker's single.

In the second, a double steal produced the third Tri-City run. Linhart and Vrenick, again a pinch runner for Ficker, were responsible.

Vrenick, on the home plate end of the play used an almost acrobatic dive at the plate to avoid New Carlisle's catcher's tag.

The play wasn't typical of Tri-City's base running in the game. Mistake on the base paths cost Tri-City numerous opportunities, and killed chances for additional runs.

"We just ran into too many errors," Champion said. "We're a better base running

Phillips wins feature race

By JEFF EAVES of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Larry Phillips of Springfield, Mo., put the "hammer down" as he won the first annual "Independence 200" late model open at the Tri-City Speedway here last night.

Phillips had no trouble passing front row starter Johnny Prior of Centralia, Ill., on the fourth lap to win going away.

The only real race in the 50-lap feature wasn't for first, but was for second between Joe Ross of Mechanicsburg, Ill., and Tom Helfrich of Haubstadt, Ind.

Helfrich, who started on the fifth row pole, was making his move toward the top chasing Phillips. He was running all alone until Ross passed him on the 19th lap and the battle for second was on. Helfrich passed down low with only three laps from the finish.

Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., was running second briefly but a flat tire forced him out of the race. Both Helfrich and Ross have won one feature each along with Phillips this season.

Behind Phillips at the finish was Helfrich. Joe Ross, Ferris Collier of Branson, Mo., Dan Dickey of Packwood, Iowa, Mike Munson of Chauncey, Ill., Bill Myers of East Alton, Ill., Mike Tobin of Springfield, Ill., Johnny Prior and Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis, Mo.

The 50-lap race started 80 cars with the top 10 qualifiers making it by 10 trials. The other 70 were in by running two 15-lap heat races, taking 10 cars out of each race.

The first 15-lap heat race was taken by Jerry Collier of Branson, Mo. Collier was followed by Dan Dickey, Bill Myers, Mike Munson, Dan Potter of St. Charles, Mo., and Bill Crane of Kansas City, Mo.

The second 15-lap heat race was won by Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill., following Taylor to the finish line was Jim Davidson of Springfield, Ill., Bucky Beasley of St. Ann, Mo., Kevin Proff of Edwardsville, Ill., Flea Atkins of Hills Summit, Mo., and Len Garson of St. Charles, Mo.

The fastest 10 cars of the night all ran in the 10-lap Trophy Dash and it was won by Larry Phillips. Mike Wallace was second followed by Tom Helfrich, Johnny Prior and Joe Ross.

The Trophy Dash was somewhat a special race to Joe and Melba, Senter of Granite City. Joe has been selling "National Speed Sport News," a racing paper in New Jersey for the past 8 years.

New Carlisle braves gas shortage for trip

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — In the dead of winter baseball is usually a remote thought in most people's minds. But not John Hooper's.

In January, Hooper was busy organizing a trip to the St. Louis area for the New Carlisle, Ind. American Legion team. New Carlisle is near the Michigan border.

When the final details were worked out, Hooper had a five-day ten-game schedule planned. Yesterday, the Indiana travelers pulled into Granite City for one of the stops planned back in the first of the year.

Despite Hooper's advance planning, problems arose.

"We were supposed to play Jefferson City tomorrow," Hooper said between games of a double header with Tri-City. "But with the gas situation it doesn't look like we'll be able to."

"We've already been late to two games looking for gas. But there was no way of knowing how bad things would be when we scheduled the trip."

The New Carlisle team found enough gasoline for the eight and one-half hour trip from the Indiana town just outside of South Bend. When it has found open stations, New Carlisle has fared well against area teams. Tuesday it beat Belleville, and Wednesday it split its double header in Granite City.

New Carlisle has accomplished this without its full roster. Hooper said about eight of his players were unavailable for the trip because they were visiting colleges interested in the abundant New Carlisle talent.

"You're about a month ahead of our baseball schedule down here," Hooper said. "That's one of the reasons I wanted to come down."

"We just finished our high school state tournament about a week ago, and almost nine of our guys were on the championship team."

Hooper said the level of competition in this area was comparable to that of the New Carlisle area. He was impressed with facilities he's seen so far.

This isn't the first time New Carlisle has taken to the road. In years past, the team has ventured to Wisconsin, Upper Indiana, and Chicago.

"This is the first time we've gone south, though," Hooper said.

The grass gets greener and greener

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — A group of 15 young Illinoisans are presently having the time of their lives. But it's not all fun where they are. It's a lot of hard work. But the grass keeps getting greener and greener for them.

Those 15 Illinois youths are at a "workout camp" near LaPorte, Ind. trying to do one thing — be selected to attend the National Tryout Camp in Colorado later this month and a berth on the National Youth Soccer.

Over three months ago, the 15 boys from this state began practicing to try and make the Illinois Select Team. For five of them, it meant making the Northern Illinois Select squad. For 10 of them, it meant making the Southern Illinois Select Team. The Southern Illinois select team then played against the Northern Illinois squad. From those two teams, the State Select Team was chosen. Southern Illinois led the way in numbers, taking a majority of the positions on the team.

From there, it was on to Madison, Wisc. for the Midwest Regional Select Team Tournament. The Illinois Under-18 year old team won its tournament and the Illinois Under 16 team tied for first place.

The best players from that tournament were invited to the Indiana workout camp — 15 from Illinois with nine of those from Southern Illinois.

For the past three weeks, the Southern Illinois players who were selected to go to the camp have been practicing at St. Elizabeth Soccer Field in Granite City every morning at 6:15 a.m. The players have been led by Southern Illinois Select NOTE: The following is a letter from Roger Smith, coach of the National Australian Soccer Team which played the Southern Illinois Select Team in Granite in May. The locals beat the Australians 3-1. The letter was sent to the local promoter of the event, Andy Gasparovic, and was passed along to the Press-Record at the request of Smith.

San Francisco

Dear Andy,
We are getting ready to leave San Francisco, we will be writing to you once we arrive back in Australia.

Team coach Andy Gasparovic.
The select team process is a new one — only three years old — and in its first year in Illinois. The ultimate goal of the process is to feed enough of the top soccer players in this country to the national coaches in Colorado, that a nucleus for the teams form this country that will play in the next World Youth Cup Games in 1981.

Here's a brief biography of each of the Southern Illinois players who are at the workout camp:

Thank you very much for all your help to make our tour the success that it has been.

team than we showed today."

In the second game, Tri-City did what seems to happen often in second games after a team has scored a lot of runs.

Tri-City could manage only one run off New Carlisle's pitcher Gene Eggert.

That run came, fittingly, with no hits. In the fifth down by a run, Tri-City tied the game.

Todd MacFarland led off the inning, reaching first as a result of Eggert's throwing error.

DeGonia's sacrifice bunt sent MacFarland to second.

A fast ball sent him to third. Linhart then lofted a fly to center that drove in MacFarland.

That run matched New Carlisle's second inning run, produced by a walk to Dave Maxwell.

Doug Williamson's triple, Doug Williamson's triple.

The score remained tied until the seventh. Maxwell led off the inning with a single. He was joined on base by Klute, who walked.

Doug Williamson's single scored Maxwell, and sent Klute to third.

Klute scored on a sacrifice fly to center off the bat of Eggert.

Eggert wrapped up the victory by retiring Tri-City in order in the bottom of the seventh.

After successfully competing in the local programs, they were chosen to represent Region I at the Illinois Special Olympics. Over 2000 participants were involved in the weekend program held at Illinois State University. Among them many guests were Rafer Johnson, former Olympic decathlon gold medal winner, and Bobby Shriver, son of Eunice Kennedy Shriver, President of Special Olympics, Inc.

The Illinois Special Olympics Program included five official sports, a wide variety of educational and recreational clinics, and the colorful Opening and Closing Ceremonies. Athletes and chaperones were housed in Illinois State University dormitories, and were provided free refreshments.

Opening ceremonies started off the weekend event on Friday evening as the "Parade of Athletes" marched into Hancock Stadium. The traditional lighting of the torch officially opened the Games.

The Illinois Special Olympics Program is now reaching thousands of mentally retarded youngsters and adults with major emphasis on the improved self-image of all participating.

Presently there are well over one hundred Special Olympians from Granite City, Madison and Venice, and plans call for expanded involvement in the future. Strong volunteers are continuing to strengthen the program.

BMX races to feature top cycle riders in the area

COLLINSVILLE — Bobby Logsdon of Collinsville, will be one of the hundreds of youngsters kicking up the dust at two St. Louis area bicycle tracks the weekend of July 7 and 8. He will be joined by many Granite City participants.

Logsdon will be competing in the Banquet War of the Stars II, a bicycle classic to be held in the Collinsville Bicycle Park, Collinsville, on July 7, and in the Northwest County YMCA Bonzal BMX Track on McKelvey Road, St. Louis, on July 8.

Fourteen-year-old Logsdon, ranked number one in the state of Illinois, has been a BMX enthusiast since 1976. In 1978, he won the Illinois High Point Championship for all ages. He is leading all riders in his class in the Gateway points race and is in the top 10 of all age classes. His trophy collection now reaches beyond one hundred.

Like many of the youngsters competing in the Banquet War of the Stars II, Bobby is an all-around athlete. A "home-run hitter," he has won the "outstanding athlete" award from his grade school, as well as wrestling and track meet awards.

Bobby's sister, Ruby, will also be competing in the Banquet War of the Stars II. Ruby races the "power puff" all-girls division.

Boys will compete in 12 age classes: 6 years old and under, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and older, and an open division. There will also be a special "big wheels" event for children 3 to 5 years.

Registration will be held at each track from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. on the day of the race. Races will begin at noon and trophies will be awarded at the end of the competition.

The event is being co-hosted by Banquet Foods Corporation and the St. Louis Northwest County YMCA.

The Banquet war of the Stars II is part of the national Bicycle Motocross (BMX) circuit and the culmination of a full year of racing for many of the contenders. Bicycle motocross is the name given to specially manufactured bicycles with high handlebars. These bicycles can cost up to $600 each.

To be eligible for competition, each child must have proof of age, special safety helmet, long pants, and a long sleeve shirt. A parent must be present at the time of registration and all bicycles must meet designated safety standards.

The public is being invited to attend both races in Collinsville and St. Louis.

The first week of Cub Scout Day Camp which begins Monday will have 250 area Cub Scouts participating during four days of special activities.

Olympic type competition and games used by the ancient Greeks are on Monday's schedule at Wilson park.

An old fashioned "Country Fair" is scheduled Tuesday at Silver Lake, Highland. Activities will include a dunking chair, a taffy pull, craft judging for ribbons and animals, which promises to be an exciting day for the 8, 9 and 10-year-old Cub Scouts. "The Great Day" is Thursday when the Cubs get to visit the high adventure of Boy Scout Camp Sunnen, near Potosi, Mo. The day is planned to give the Cubs a first look at the fun they will have when old enough to become a Boy Scout.

The program will begin at approximately 9 a.m. and end at 3:15 p.m., except when they go to Camp Sunnen.

The committee in charge of the Cub Scout Day Camp are: Mrs. Pat Foote, Mrs. Pauline Perkins, Mrs. Sandy Buford, James Graham, Mrs. Ida Nuernberger, Joe Aud and Mrs. Jean Mega. Conrad Fetsch, district scout executive, is the Boy Scout staff advisor to the event.

Venice ends post of assistant police chief

An ordinance stating the number of men and what ranks would constitute the Venice police force and eliminating the position of assistant chief of police was passed at the Tuesday evening City Council meeting.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said, "I feel the position of assistant police chief needs to be eliminated. Our department is not that big and the sergeant on the shift can be in command. We'll also be saving $20,000 or more in salary."

The new ordinance calls for three sergeants, one corporal and 10 patrolmen. There will also be a chief of police, but that is covered in another ordinance, City Attorney Harry Hartman said.

Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine also asked if the council's attention incidents of throwing at plant workers going to and from work at the Consolidated Aluminum Corp. plant, College and Weaver streets, Venice.

"This situation is getting out of hand and I think some drastic action must be taken to stop this rock throwing," Valentine said.

"That plant employs 1,000 people and 70 or 80 are from Venice. If we don't stop this, where will we be if the plant moves?"

"A couple years ago a man was hurt bad and we almost did lose the plant."

"The Press Record gave us an update on the problem Monday and this is a problem we have to deal with now."

Mayor Tyrone Echols said, "This problem was brought to my attention yesterday and the police will be putting on heavier patrols to stop this situation."

Valentine went on to comment, "We need to tighten up on the curfew throughout the entire city. This is also getting out of hand in both ends of town."

Aldermen also asked if the police were giving out traffic citations for persons without city vehicle stickers, as the deadline was July 1.

Noise from motorcycles and speeding cars also was brought up, with council members calling for a police crackdown, particularly in the evening and early morning hours.

Parking the wrong way on streets and parking on Circle Drive at Lee Wright Homes were discussed, with the council also calling for a crackdown and citations issued to violators.

The mayor said he will talk to the chief of police on the matters mentioned by the council.

Cut with knife during argument

Mae Lee Leonard, 24, of 1001 Douglas St., Venice, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday after being cut under her left arm several times.

Mrs. Leonard apparently was in a fight with another person at the ball diamond in Lee Park, authorities were told.

The argument may have begun over the actions of a five year old boy, it was related.

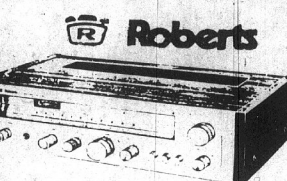

Police questioned another woman and released her pending further investigation of the incident.

New York's Mayor Ed Koch, on the night The Friars Club roasted, toasted and-or vivisectioned my mate, Joey Adams: "Joey's quite a cultured guy. Last night he ordered his whole meal in French. Even the waiter was surprised. It was a Chinese restaurant." As somebody put it, "Our mayor is even funnier at City Hall!"

Polled on what it's like to be a bachelor, Rock Hudson weaseled out of the interview when he heard the piece was on bachelors aged 50 or over ... Mrs. Myron Cohen sprained her foot last week whilst Mr. Myron Cohen was breaking up the rest of the people at Palumbos in Philly.

In town recently, Ginger Rogers houseguested with cousin Phyllis Cerf Wagner and cousin-in-law Robert Wagner (the former mayor) ... Sam Levenson to me: "I hate going on the road to sell my new book. I have a fear of dying in unfamiliar territory. I've already told my wife to bury me with a book under my arm, preferably, 'Death of Salesman' ... Pearl Bailey spent exactly overnight at the Carlyle Hotel. Flew in for a benefit at night and out the next morning.

Along with everybody making the required trip to Israel these days, Ladybird Johnson made a quickie pit stop in Jerusalem ... Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" goes before the cameras July 23 for Columbia with his wife, Marcia Mason, James Caan and Valerie Harper ... At a recent party Tiny Tim excused himself for not eating. Didn't want anyone to think the food was lousy or anything. Seems Tiny doesn't eat or drink in public.

Dined recently with five of his 10 kids from three different wives, plus his live-in lady and their year-old son.

The big, new, hot hit joint this season in Covent Garden, London, is a Victorian conservatory called "Friends." Owned by Ed-ton John, it features unknown entertainers and food that's called "Modern English," whatever that means.

Lou Jacobi knocked off an NBC pilot, "Darn You Harry Landers," in which he's a retired prizefighter named Killer Cohen ... Mae West, who's still planning her future, is seeing a psychic about making the right — you should excuse the expression — career moves.

Replying to why he didn't show at a party, Don Rickles said, "I'm too busy trying to arrange a booking at the Romy Theatre!"

Richard M. Nixon, of whom you may have heard, hosted a poolside cocktail thing in San Clemente honoring the astronauts and the 10th anniversary of man's first step on The Green Cheese.

Comedienne Pat Carroll's touring with her one woman show "Gertrude Stein Gertrude Stein Gertrude Stein." I saw it and it's very good very good very good ... Robert Merrill's daughter is in an off-Broadway show ... They Tim's wearing henna in his hair ... Future viewed—gasoline made from Illinois coal

What will happen in the changing energy picture by the year 2000?

The answers came in a "town meeting" of energy producers and area science teachers in the closing days of an energy workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"I don't have a crystal ball, and my predictions may be fuzzy," Bob McDaniel of Amoco told the educators, "but by 2001, the United States will import less than 25 percent of its total energy because it cannot afford more."

McDaniel said the basic fact is that we no longer have a cheap or available supply of energy." He predicted a "painful adjustment" in the American public that "likes guzzling and reacts violently when it is denied."

He predicted that we will still be using electricity but not made from oil and gas. We will use Illinois coal in this area," he predicted. "We will still have refineries, but we may make gasoline from Illinois coal."

James Gray of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union predicted a generally good outlook for his workers with refinery expansion and safety training for employee health and safety continuing.

"It seems the nation has little choice but to turn to coal," according to Taylor Pensoneau of the Illinois Coal Association.

He said coal producers are operating under a "cloud of uncertainty" because of changing government regulations, but predicted the oil shortage may force compromises in Environmental Protection Agency standards in an environmentally acceptable way, he said.

In the long range, shortages would allow adequate development of new processes to use Illinois coal in an environmentally acceptable way, he said.

Dave Gambrell of Peabody Coal Co. called coal the key to U.S. energy independence and economic stability.

He told the teachers they were at the brink of crisis, what really bad could happen.

happen and the "problems will not get solved by the time your kids are graduated."

"We sit on the world's largest supply of coal and insist on paying blackmarket prices for oil that costs utilities double per bbl," he said.

"We must resolve to use it," Gambrell said, but industry has to get away from burning coal as coal because of the pollutants. "We must try to figure out how to solve the technical problems, not sweep them under the rug."

Dick Worthen of the Sierra Club sees "absolutely no shortage of energy, period," just an inability to bottle the sun.

He told the teachers not to panic because they could not get gas. "Political freedom is at stake, and I'm very worried about it," he said.

He predicted that we are "going to ask for a fascist dictatorship within 50 years because there's no gas" and will give the president dictatorial powers to get it. He warned of what they may be trading for energy to satisfy a selfish "want-it-now" attitude.

"The nation will rely on the renewable energy—solar—according to Paul Kuhn of Olin Corp. He said the goal of 20 percent solar power by the year 2000, outlined in President Carter's recent energy plan, "but it will depend on user confidence and cost."

Kuhn said the St. Louis area is supplied by inexpensive natural gas and electricity, but the same things that make solar energy attractive elsewhere will make it attractive here—availability and cost.

Solar energy has the technology and the consumer interest, he said. The lacking link is at the contractor-installer level.

Solar energy to heat water for swimming pools and solar space heating for homes and farm buildings will become more attractive as fuel cost continue to rise, he predicted.

The main problem is conservation. Steve Cameron of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission told the teachers.

"We need to stress conservation. It needs to start in the school and it has to be taught like social studies and sciences."

Cameron, a former teacher, said the energy problem is real and the shortages could be lessened if groups worked together. "Conservation has to start somewhere."

After a question and answer period, a panel moderator Ron Bruno, associate professor of physics at SIUE and co-director of the energy workshop, reminded the group it had agreed on many things and disagreed on some.

In making their energy decisions, he said they should remember the quality of life, the thing "we are all going to live with."

The two-week workshop, sponsored for area science teachers by the department of physics at SIUE and the U.S. Department of Energy, was directed by Tom Baldwin, SIUE professor of physics.

Madison youth charter OK'd at NAACP meeting

A youth charter for the Madison Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) was approved last week at the 70th NAACP convention held in Louisville, Ky.

According to the Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Madison Branch and a delegate at the convention, the youth groups will be formed in the near future.

One group will be for young people to age 17 and a second group will be for young adults from 17 to 21.

In addition to Rev. Williams, members from the local chapter who attended the convention included: Julius Johnson Sr., Arnold Johnson and John Cooper.

The first meeting of the new NAACP youth chapters will be held in August. Rev. Williams said that he hopes to get everything moving in order to have representation to the Illinois NAACP convention in the spring.

"I enjoyed the convention and stressed that the NAACP will continue to support everyone who has been done wrong. The NAACP is for black, white, rich and poor. We want to help all people have a better life."

Williams said the entire convention was impressed by United States Vice-President Walter P. Mondale who was one of the speakers. Mondale called for political support from the black community for President Jimmy Carter's re-election and various programs.

Williams said that everyone in Louisville, Ky., seemed to go out of their way to see to it the delegates had a pleasant stay.

"I think all of us attending learned a lot at the convention and will try to use what we have learned to help all the people we can. I do want to thank the members of the Madison Branch for letting me represent them at the convention," Williams said.

A major concern at the convention, according to Williams, was an anti-busing resolution that has been voted out of the House Judiciary Committee.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Ronald M. Motul (D-Ohio) proposes a constitutional amendment to restrict busing for school desegregation. The measure is due to be considered by the House on July 26.

The 3,000 delegates at the convention unanimously voted to condemn the proposal.

Williams said all the convention delegates have been asked to contact their representatives in Congress and voice objections.

Kids aren't wanting for fun

Park District class is keeping them happy

"One thing the kids can't say in Granite City is that there is nothing to do." The statement, made by one of the mothers at the gymnastics and tumbling class now going on at the Nameoki Recreation Center, sums up the feeling of many Granite Cityans.

Among the many programs being conducted by the Granite City Park District are the three classes in gymnastics and tumbling.

There were giggles in the intermediate class that day, lots of them. There were a few who were serious in their efforts to learn some of the basic moves being taught under the direction of Donna Davis. All seemed to be having fun.

Fun, according to Mrs. Davis, is the main objective of the classes, which are held Monday through Thursday at the center. "We don't expect to turn out 100 great gymnasts," she said. "The kids are here for recreation."

"Of course," she continued, "if they learn a little coordination while they are here, that's great."

Some of the 8 to 10 year old boys and girls seemed to be learning a little more. One little girl, who was about 8 years old, was really giving the uneven parallel bars what for, and she was pretty good.

Others were in it for the giggles. The springboard and crash mat created a fun way for the little ones to throw themselves into their tumbling.

Each tuck jump and forward roll would send the giggles into fits, and the onlookers into gales of laughter.

No one could say why the tumbling tricks were so funny. When asked, the kids just giggled some more.

"Most of the youngsters, according to Mrs. Davis, are afraid of the uneven parallel bars, at least for the first few times they try anything on them."

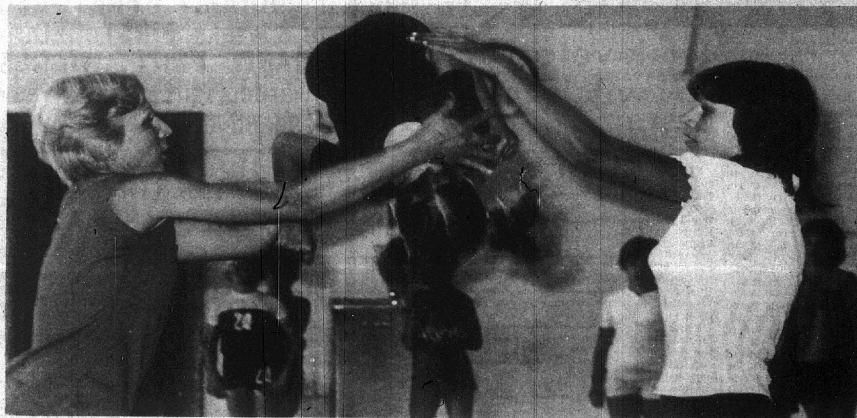

Some get over the fear. Others cringe every time they reach for the high bar. One little girl, frightened by the height, refused the high bar, preferring the lower of the two to try her trick.

High School cheerleaders find their way to Mrs. Davis' class, hoping to improve their tumbling skills and learn the coordination needed for cheerleading.

But for the most part, the kids beg their mothers to take them to the Park District's classes just because they are fun. And everyone knows that summertime plus kids plus any sort of activity adds up to fun.

Authorize roof replacement at GCHS North gym

Replacement of the gymnasium roof at Granite City High School North has been authorized by the Granite City Board of Education.

E.L. Rule Co. was selected to install the new roof for $48,986. Specifications for the work were prepared by Architect Henry Gabriel. Three types of insulation will be used. Life Safety funds will be used for the work.

Excessive moisture inside the present roof from condensation and other causes has been a concern since the gymnasium was first constructed.

The Rule firm also was selected to do Life Safety work at six elementary schools at a cost of $63,770, the lowest of two bids received.

Major repairs to the roofing at Niedringhaus School, at an estimated cost of $3,157, also have been authorized by the Board of Education on the advice of Ronald Landman, maintenance supervisor for the school district.

Landman said he inspected the roof and found the insulation under the roofing material in some spots. He said it will be necessary to remove the roofing and replace all wet insulation. Bids from four firms to do the work were opened and Geissler Roofing Co. was the lowest bidder at $4,671 for sealing and chipping areas at Frohardt, Lake, Marshall, Mitchell, Logan and Nameki schools. The board awarded the contract to Geissler.

Riebel Brothers Roofing, Inc., was selected to repair the roof at Frohardt School at a cost of $365, the lowest of four bids received.

Butler Floor Company submitted the lower of two bids to sand the gymnasium floor at Nameki School, which was flooded during the Easter holidays when a drain clogged and allowed water to leak to the floor. The maintenance department installed a new floor, which needs sanded and sealed.

Landman suggested the contract for sanding the floor be awarded to Butler for $1,650 and the maintenance department then repaint the lines and apply the seal, saving $878 over the lowest bid to do all the work. Missouri Floor Co. bid $2,528 to sand the floor, paint the lines and seal the floor.

Three contractors were selected for asphalt and chip work at nine schools. Four bidders answered the bid call.

C.D. Peters Co. was low bidder to seal and chip parking areas at Granite City High School North for $4,650 and the maintenance department then repaint the lines and apply the seal, saving $878 over the lowest bid to do all the work. Missouri Floor Co. bid $2,528 to sand the floor, paint the lines and seal the floor.

Cam Construction Ltd. bid $600 for asphalt work at Niedringhaus School and $4,671 for sealing and chipping areas at Frohardt, Lake, Marshall, Mitchell, Logan and Nameki schools. The board awarded the contract to Geissler.

American Optical Co. was selected to provide a pair of flexible goggles for eye protection for junior high school chemistry students. The students will purchase their goggles, so the money spent by the district will be reimbursed.

Four firms were selected to provide lumber and finishing materials for the industrial education programs, at a total cost of $4,859. Contracts were awarded to O'Neil Lumber for $2,184, Illinois Lumber Co. for $1,180, Great Central Lumber for $782, and Harry's Wallpaper for $701.

Other industrial education materials costing $12,121 will be purchased, on the basis of low bids, from 11 firms. Contracts were awarded to Taylor Industrial for $206, Eastern Tool for $302, Midwest Shop for $3,588, Rubelmann-Lucas for $233, Manhattan Supply for $169, Broadhead-Garrett for $3,812, Sears Roebuck for $665, Retco Alloy for $275, Satco for $1,306, Shigo Inc. for $406, and Modern School Supply for $537.

Board Member David Pusey said he approved the purchases, but did not explain his vote.

Contracts totaling $3,854 for printed forms were awarded to five printing firms on the basis of low bids to specifications. Successful bidders were the Collinsville Herald, $453, Print Mart, $567, Tri-City Printing, $2,459, Bellinger, $195, and Wood River Printing, $178.

Contracts totaling $1,626 were awarded for heating and air conditioning equipment for the industrial education departments. Refrigeration Supplies was successful low bidder for items costing $246, Thompson Supply won a $1,011 contract and Crescent Parts & Equipment earned the contract for supplying $367 worth of equipment.

W.B. McCloud & Co., Inc., was selected for pest control in all buildings for the fiscal year at a total cost of $3,723. The only other bidder, Orkin Exterminating Co., Inc., bid $3,888 for the year.

Five firms were selected from among nine bidders for office machines totaling $7,740. All purchases were on the basis of low bids. Two pieces of equipment which had to be purchased from one firm to match machines already in use.

Contracts for the office machines were awarded to Dictaphone Co. for $1,687, D.E. Supplier, $2,774, Seltrite Supply $618, Alltronics, $1,772, and Eppler-Marstan, $1,184.

Five firms were selected to supply hardwood lumber for woodworking classes. They were Beckemeier, $810, Gencore, $650, Educational, $1,930, Schaller, $1,995, and Craftsman, $5,445.

Big "G" Disposal, Inc., was selected to dispose of trash and garbage disposal for Mitchell School at a cost of $165 per month. SCA Services, Inc. bid $202 per month.

Several firms were selected to provide items to the district needs throughout the year. All were selected on the basis of low bid within acceptable quality, officials said.

Jones Wholesale Grocery, Inc., is to provide crackers, Valley Farm Dairy is to provide ice cream and sherbet, O.J. Supply was selected for photographic film, ITT Continental Baking Co. is to supply bakery products to the district and Edwardsville Skelgas Service will serve the liquefied petroleum needs of Mitchell School.

Dishwashing materials will be purchased this fiscal year from Amerigo Chemical Co. and Old Vienna is to supply potato chips for the junior and senior high schools. Tarras West Co. will supply French-fried potatoes and dessert topping.

Southern Illinois Plate Glass Co. could bid two other firms to be named the source of supply for window glass replacement for the district during the year. Klenstra, Inc., was selected for ready mix concrete, limestone and masonry cement purchases during the year, Lybarger Material Co. is to supply Meramec sand and Portland cement, and Paul Seebold Concrete Co. will supply river sand and slag.

Eight bidders were selected to supply various painting supplies during the year. Houser Automotive was selected to provide overhaul gasket sets to the school district for $250 each.

Emergency expenditures approved included $324 to Graybar Electric Co. for replacing 24 broken lenses on fluorescent light fixtures, $187 to Brenco Corp. for acid treatment for the cooling tower at Grigsby, $188 for Commercial Motor Service to repair a pump in the Maryville School heating system, $305 to Hester Bradley Co. for replacing heating units at GCHS South, and $825 to the York Division of Borg Warner Corp. for labor to start the 290-ton air conditioning unit at Grigsby.

A bill of $298 from Flex-beard Refrigeration Service for repairing the refrigerator at Maryville School also was approved. Other bills approved for payment totaled $130,792 in the education fund, $122,904 in the building fund, $2,815 in travel funds, $7,070 from the joint agreement fund, $104,095 from the transportation fund, $484 in federal funds and $42,921 in cafeteria bills.

Seek veto of bill to switch crippled children's services

Efforts are being made to convince Gov. James Thompson that he should veto a legislative bill that would transfer the Illinois Division of Services for Crippled Children from its present administrative control by the Division of the University of Illinois to the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR).

According to Ray Adams, medical social consultant of the crippled children's services, many parents of handicapped children oppose the transfer on grounds the change would affect the services received by their children.

The service conducts clinics in Alton, Belleville and East St. Louis in this immediate region and cares for approximately 3,600 children in Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Calhoun and Jersey Counties, of which approximately 1,200 are in Madison County.

Statewide, the organization cares for 32,000 children. From 400 to 500 children in the Quad-City area attend the Alton Clinic. Adams said, noting that a clinic is to be held July 24 at the Alton Memorial Hospital, beginning at 9 a.m. Clinics also are planned this month on July 17 at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Belleville and on July 10 at Community Hospital (formerly Christian Welfare Hospital) in East St. Louis.

The bill to transfer the service to the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation was sponsored by Sen. Richard M. Daley (D-Chicago). The measure would create a new Department of Rehabilitation Services.

The Crippled Children's Agency now pays for medical treatment for children with a variety of crippling illnesses.

The measure was a highly controversial one in the legislature and passed the House by only two votes. It has been sent to Governor Thompson for his signature.

Adams said the crippled children's services are provided by trained staff who are experienced in dealing with children, and that many caseworkers do not feel the change will be beneficial.

Sen. Daley said the crippled children's agency was established in 1955 at a time when few services were provided in the downstate area.

Now, he charged, most of the services are provided downstate and there are few programs for Chicago area children.

Adams said the services of several legislators who opposed the bill have been enlisted to call on the governor with a plea that he veto the measure.

Assistant deans named

Two administrative appointments in the Office of Graduate Studies and Research at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been announced by Dean Vaughn J. Lindsay of the Graduate School. They were effective July 1.

Rosemarie Archangel, professor in the department of health, recreation and physical education of the School of Education, and formerly director of women's intercollegiate athletics, has been named assistant dean in the Office of Graduate Studies and Research, with primary responsibility for graduate program development and evaluation.

David Brown, associate professor in the department of biomedical sciences of the School of Dental Medicine and formerly assistant dean of the Graduate School, has been appointed assistant dean for research, with primary responsibility for directing the Office of Research and Projects.

GC Steel man rescued;
barge breaks in middle

This article from The Mill recalls highlights of a rescue in the Chain of Rocks Canal.

"I was down inside the barge. We were loading in coils. I felt a big boom and hard shaking, and mistakenly thought another barge had hit us. The walls started caving in—coils were going everywhere."

Joe Gregg's voice quickened, and he shook his head in wonderment. The young GCS chairman was still amazed at what had happened to the barge he was working in at the River Dock recently, and his rescue from the Mississippi River canal. "The vessel suddenly cracked in the middle and the whole thing folded up, leaving both ends of the barge sticking up in the air and the center plunging down into the water forming the point of a 'V'."

Emerging from the incident as man of the hour was crane helper Wayne Fry, who fished Gregg out of the water. The rest of the crew was also credited by foreman Floyd Jordan, who was on duty at the time, with responding well to the bizarre accident, and playing vital roles in handling the emergency.

It happened late in the day on afternoon turn. The day crew had loaded 72 coils from rail cars into the barge for shipment, using the American locomotive crane. Gregg and his fellow employees who came on to work the afternoon turn remember they had just set in the barge their 13th coil when "all hell broke loose."

Couldn't reach ladder
Let Gregg continue the story. "There was a ladder in the corner of the barge. We aren't supposed to ride up and down between the barge and the dock on the crane hook, so we use the ladder. When the barge cracked, I ran toward the ladder, but there was no way I could have gotten to it, or that it would have been any use in this situation. I was yelling, and coils were scotching and rolling around."

"I understand Fred (craneman McCauley) really blasted the crane whistle sounding the alarm. He lowered the 'C' hook and I grabbed hold of it to ride it back up. There were four doors stacked on each end on top of the barge. The chains that hold them gave way and the doors fell into the barge, hitting the crane cable and knocking me off the 'C' hook."

Craneman McCauley reports that when he had let the "C" hook down, he couldn't see Gregg—who was blocked from

Another sinking

There was another incident involving a barge at the River Dock a few days prior to that related in the adjoining story. A barge loaded with 105 GCs coils started taking on water and sank. Because it was out in the canal channel away from the dock, it was necessary to engage an outside salvage company to bring the coils back up.

Coils which sank in the barge mishap and rescue recounted here were near the dock, and GCs crews were able to salvage them.

view by the doors. McCauley said he was fearful of hitting Gregg with the hook, so started bringing it back up, then noticed Gregg had grabbed it and was holding on.

Relates Gregg, "When I went off the 'C' hook, I landed face and arms first on the steel floor of the barge. Water buried me. I tried to get my shoes off...they kept me down. The barge sank in about 30 seconds with both ends sticking up in the air. I was in the water about 15 feet from the barge end, and didn't have anything to hold on to. I was injured. I had on a life jacket we wear on the barges, but I was having problems because of the swirling water, the doors, and the coils."

Fry to the rescue

Craner helper Fry, who is quite accustomed to the water—his hobby is scuba diving—volunteered to ride the "C" hook back down and rescue Gregg. He threw a life ring to the struggling man, and climbed on the "C" hook carrying another life jacket. Craneman McCauley lowered him to a point as close to Gregg as possible. Fry jumped into the water, reached Gregg, helped him onto the "C" hook, then supported him on the trip back up.

In the meantime, utilityman Paul Greene had called the ambulance...which drove up just as Gregg was picked up from the water.

"They got here in a hurry," said foreman Jordan. "Seems like everybody did just what he was supposed to do in such an emergency."

Gregg suffered a broken wrist, bruised chest and cut on the face.

"I'm grateful to the guys—particularly to Wayne—for getting me out," he says. "It was really scary, with everything happening so fast—so unexpectedly. I thought I was going to die."

Most of those involved in the incident are relatively new GCs employees—Gregg will have been with the company a year in July; Fry has about two and a half years of service; Greene started just a few months ago, and McCauley in 1973.

Gregg, 20, and his wife, Shawne, live at 100 Briarhaven, Granite City. Fry, 22, and his wife, Harlene, live at 2441 Washington, Granite City.

ANOTHER HOTEL-MOTEL SPECIAL

Forest setting for 120 luxury homes on sites of one and two acres

NOTTINGHAM ESTATES IS OPEN.

Ed Moore Construction Co. of Granite City is the developer, and various builders are participating in the construction of homes. The site consists of "170 acres of the last gently rolling tract left in Madison County."

Located on Route 162 between Routes 157 and 159, Maryville, it is being called one of the "biggest and nicest residential developments" in this region. The addition of new homes and various improvements will generate a total value of $20,000,000.

"Now the St. Louis County is so densely populated, the movement is coming this way. From this location, you can get onto Interstates 270 or 70 in a matter of minutes and be in St.

Louis in 15 minutes," a spokesman for the Moore firm comments.

"We have restricted the number of sites to what the area can handle while retaining the rustic, forested character. Lots are as small as one acre and some wooded sites are as large as two acres, totaling 120 sites.

"The tract has been designed as a residential development for fine-quality, custom-built homes. The terrain is adaptable to many appealing designs. Most important, this is a private development and will never be overcrowded.

"Home sites are part of the planning development, with an indenture of trust and restrictions to preserve the community and protect subsequent owners from depreciation of their investment.

"Nottingham Estates has Maryville fire and police protection. All utility wiring is underground. Curb, gutters and roads are asphaltic concrete.

"Natural gas heat is available for all lots. It is in the Collinsville school district. It has mail delivery.

"All streets have lighting. All streets are private, having no through streets, and are easily accessible to the highway.

"You will find a fresh dimension in living where there is plenty of room to grow, to think, and to enjoy the land and seasons changing around you. Here is the place where you can have ultimate privacy in a picturesque community and can build the country estate of your dreams.

"Walk the land; stand on a hillside; get the perspective. It has an environment abounding in outdoor recreational amenities. The lodge and recreation area are already completed, and each lot owner has a share in it. It is ideal for outdoor and indoor entertainment.

"It includes a swimming pool, and a fenced-in tennis court and the lodge has rustic wood open-beam ceilings, a party room with a huge fireplace, ample seating and a kitchen equipped to accommodate a large group.

"Although we are proud of the retention of the rustic beauty of this development, all the civilized conveniences are provided. There is the best of two worlds: country living, with easily accessible city conveniences."
